The Prez Sez

by Ray Neys

We could really use some rain. The weather has been screwy lately hasn't it? According to one source I heard on the radio, a lot of our "climate change" is due to the mad scientists who have been doing climate engineering for the last several decades. Who knows? All I know is we could really use a good rain. The ground is bone dry again and the parks don't usually start watering until after Mother's Day. Which brings us to the topic of the month... retrieving coins.

For the Breakfast Club hunt last Saturday, we went to a local high school. The ground for the most part was hard as a rock. Probing for all but the shallowest targets was a real challenge, so a lot of us resorted to the old standby of a three sided hole or trap door method which when done with care leaves an invisible dig site. See pictures one, two and three on the next page. I still tried probing and retrieving with a screwdriver but for anything that was deep, I made a trap door. I got to thinking about it and checked some dig areas that I had made ten days or so while I was recovering from the flu and didn't want to go too far from home. Well, you can see the results in pictures four, five and six. Not so good. Holes dug when it is really dry can seriously damage the grass, which is what we do NOT want to do. This is the kind of thing that makes us detectorists look bad in the eyes of the public.

I have the hose running as I write this. It is too early to turn on the sprinklers and I'm not looking forward to the maintenance that always follows the winter, and of course my wife had the yard plugged, yada yada yada.

Have a good time detecting, just try to take care until we can get some water down.
Happy Trails,

Ray

April Fools Hunt Report

by Bryce Young

Well, it looked like a nice day until the wind picked up. Roy and I showed up about 10 AM to plant the coins. There were over 1700 targets including 200 silver dimes, lots of clad, tokens and trinkets. Three of the tokens were marked $50 and two were marked $12. Bruce contributed $24 in $1 coins and Roy also put in some goodies. Many thanks to Boots and Laura Lewis for letting us use their place again at the Lazy Heart Ranch.

There were thirty-two people that signed up for the hunt. By the time we finished, the wind was howling. Good time to stop after an hour.

Now, this was called the April Fools Hunt, so I just had to do a few things different. All the prize tokens were buried in a gift patty from the cows as was the Spyderco prize token, which was found by none other than Joyce Keith. I didn't see any of them found but I did hear a few stories about how fun it was to dig them out.

Keeping in line with the April Fools Hunt theme, I took 4,800 pennies, 240 quarters, 300 dimes and 120 nickels and divided them into three semi-equal piles and then proceeded to freeze them with water in the freezer. The prizes were handed out with three Styrofoam coolers. The winners were Ron Erickson, Sheri Muehlbauer, Kevyn Llewellyn, Joyce Keith and Everett Johnston. I think I should have just let them take to frozen bricks home without the coolers. Oh well, I'm pretty sure we all had fun.

Loretto Heights Artifacts Delivered by HART by Norm Ruggles

The Historical Artifact Recovery Team (HART) has concluded its three-year project of working with the real estate developers at Loretto Heights, the Catholic girls' school dating back to 1891. The property in Southwest Denver is now being carefully developed for residential and commercial purposes. The first residential lofts will be available for lease very soon.

Between December 2018 and October 2021, HART conducted searches of the large 70-acre site in Southwest Denver on 13 separate occasions. 23 HART members participated in at least two of those searches.

HART unearthed a wide variety of amazing historical artifacts. Some have been shown at previous Eureka club meetings. On all of our projects, HART provides a community service and gives the artifacts we recover to the institution or group we are assisting, to be used for their research or display.

Dan Pierson, Chris Davis, Sue Ruggles and I spent a good deal of time organizing all of the Loretto Heights artifacts. We segregated the objects into related types, and marked and placed them into plastic Ziploc bags. We filled two large, sturdy cardboard banker's boxes, one of which was devoted to glass items cleaned by Dan. We put the particularly interesting small items such as old coins, medallions and jewelry into two shadowboxes donated by Chris.

Dan, Sue and I delivered everything on March 29, 2022 to Mark Witkiewicz and Paige Langley of Westside Investment Partners, the Loretto Heights developers. We met at the magnificent red sandstone Administration Building which is the centerpiece of the property. Mark and Paige were very impressed and happy with HART's work and results. The developers will decide on an appropriate way to display the artifacts and will give full credit to Eureka Treasure Hunters Club and HART.

After our meeting Mark and Paige offered to give us a tour of the unique, historic building and bell tower. It was a great chance to see the inside of the structure, including the beautiful chapel. It's a surprisingly long way to the top of the tower, and the 2X4 wooden stairs as you approach the upper part are rickety. The old bell is still up there and the area is breezy and open, giving a stunning view of Denver in all directions. Thanks to Dan Pierson for his photos of our meeting and tour.

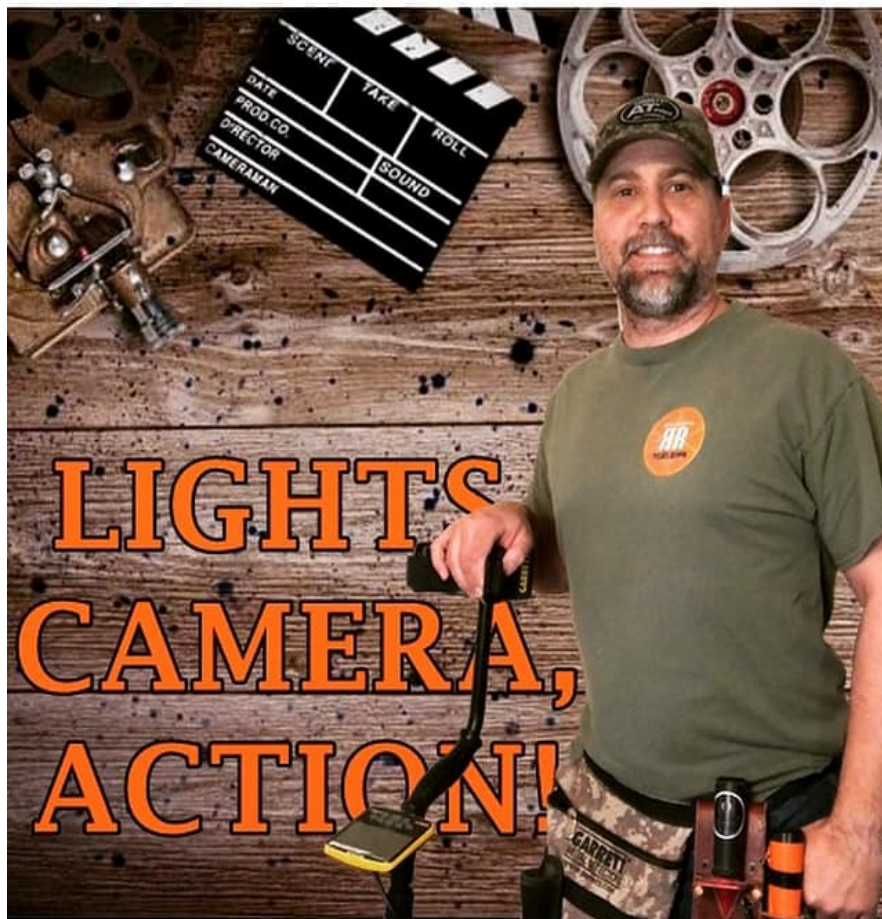

The Loretto Heights project was clearly one of the most extensive and significant HART activities ever. My sincere thank you goes out to each HART member who participated and contributed to making this project a total success! Terrific job everyone!

5280 Adventures and Adventures in Dirt will be filmed for a TV series, called Trailblazers, being produced by Gordon Ramsay's productions company, Studio Ramsay. The series will be in three episodes and will be shown on the BBC in the UK. During our episode we will be hanging out and teaching three women celebrities from the UK on how to metal detect and save history. We are looking forward to digging in the dirt with @rubywax, @emilyatack and @officialmelb. Get ready ladies!!

Breakfast Club

by Dan Pierson

About fifteen of us gathered at the Lookin' Good Restaurant and headed off to Addenbrooke park in Lakewood. The park had been getting a new sprinkler system so a lot of ground had been turned over. It was cloudy, windy and chilly when we started, but the sun soon came out and made the weather pleasant. Addenbrooke is a big park and we were quite spread out.

Nobody made any great finds; each hunter I talked to had about a dollar in coins. Brice found the only ring of the day, unfortunately not made of any precious metal. Other interesting finds were a soccer referee coin, soccer pin, an unknown part that is definitely old and I found a sparkly star on the way back to the parking lot.

Nobody hit the jackpot but it was a good day to be outdoors, the ground wasn't frozen and it wasn't snowing.

Breakfast Club

by Chris Davis

I finally got back into town from my latest globe-trotting and class reunions in time to attend a Breakfast Club. We had a good turnout and went to the Sheridan High School for our hunt. We had two visitors from Colorado Springs attend, Charlie and Tauni. The weather was great, but the ground was pretty dry and hard.

Greg L. showed us all how it is done by finding (at least) 2 rings. One was a very pretty silver ring with a Mystic Topaz stone. Roy N. and I found junkers. Still, 4 rings on a hunt is not too bad. It appears Marianne S. did best on change with $4.72. I had to work to break a dollar.

One hundred percent of the entry fees will be converted into silver and modern coins and planted. There will also be two standard Scrabble sets of tiles planted (200 tiles). (A standard Scrabble set contains 100 tiles as show above.) Each tile will be attached to a modern zinc penny. Tiles have a point value assigned, blank tiles can be used as any letter and have a zero point value.

At the end of the hunt, participants will have fifteen minutes to make words with the highest point value. Hunters may only use tiles they have recovered themselves. NO TRADING OR COMBINING TILES. Tiles making the highest point words will be turned over to the hunt master for validation. Foreign words and proper nouns are not allowed. Any disputes will be resolved with the Merriam-Webster Official SCRABBLE Players Dictionary (Sixth Edition) which will be available for reference.

Prizes will be awarded to the hunter making words with the highest point value. In the case of a tie on points, the word with the most letters will win. If still tied, winner will decided by a coin flip. Hunters can win multiple prizes but each tile may only be used once.
