My Very First Metal Detector

by Jan Hallez

My very first metal detector was given to me by my sister Blaine as a Christmas gift one year. It was a Garrett Ace 250. She came out to visit me the following spring to do some metal detecting. Blaine had many years of detecting experience under her belt (she would frown upon me stating that she has many, many years, so we are skipping the extra many), whereas I had none. So, when we first started out, Blaine would come home with a pouch full of coins, but I would only find a few coins. She kept urging me to not give up. I kept at it, and a few years later, I was sometimes getting more than her!

That Garrett Ace 250 was my “go to” machine. This machine is considered to be a “beginner’s” detector, and that’s OK. The better you know your machine, the more you will find. I like to think I can out-detect some people with fancier, more expensive equipment. The price for the Garrett Ace 250 is quite reasonable compared to many other fancier machines.

Fast forward to present day, and my Garrett Ace 300 is now my favorite. It is basically an Ace 250 that has been modernized to have the digital readout, as well as a better pinpointing feature. It’s light enough to not cause detecting elbow. Yes, it only works on land (at least for the control box), but it has gotten me enough cash to go out and buy water machines and other detecting accessories. The Garrett Ace 300 does not have issues at all. If I need repairs, the Garrett people will either fix them, or replace them with a quick turnaround.

Right now, I have more detectors than can fit in my trunk. If you were to look in there, you will find 2 Ace 300s, (ya gotta have a spare), a Garrett AT Pro, (my favorite water detector) sand scoops, 2 Garrett Pro Pointers (aka Garrett Carrots), 2 pouches, screwdrivers and extra batteries.

Have Detector Will Travel is my motto.

Jan Hallez

The Big CoinHuna/Big Kahuna Event

A.K.A

The Tortoise and the Hare

by Roy Neys

It was a great day for a hunt. I made 40 copies of the rules and passed out 37. There could have been more, I didn't check with Linda K. There were an outright gaggle of people attending. And why not? It was free to all Eureka! Members in good standing. We kicked off the morning with The Big Kahuna event and I was not disappointed. A number of people donned Hawaiian outfits. Joyce K. went all out with the coconut bra and grass skirt winning first place. The skirt and bra were worn over her clothes, of course. I don't think it was much over 60 degrees at 10:30. John H. won second place with an outfit consisting of Sandy's blouse, a wreath from the front door and a sparkly hat. You had to see this to appreciate it. Everett came in a tight third place- it was the beaded necklace that scored the win. Not every man can wear beads. Everybody that tried the challenge got a Hawaiian lei. No Tiki torches.

We took a short break for contestants to change into more comfortable attire for metal detecting. I passed out copies of the rules. It's a good thing I wrote the rules down; I never would have been able to answer all the questions otherwise. Keep it Simple Stupid came to mind.

Oh well, we finally got started and 7 lucky contestants lined up quickly each bearing the required Barber Quarter. I put an Indian Cent on top of the Barber Quarter so most of them got an added bonus. That and the 400 Mercury dimes, a couple hundred clad quarters and odds and ends. The second Heat was the Penny Hunt. The object was to find 20 zinc pennies in a field of 1,000 Wheaties, 2- Eagle Cents and 100 copper Lincolns. In retrospect this hunt was too hard. It was starting to warm up and the copper Lincolns messed a lot of people up. Next time we will have to find 10 zinc pennies. That should make it easier. A new member, Justin, found one of the Flying Eagle Cents. Even trying to coax people to find the other one, I finally retrieved it and gave it to Kevyn for his October hunt.

Three contestants, Linda E., Allen J. and Boots L. moved on to the Nickel Hunt. 100 war nickels about 500 everyday nickels and 39- 2005 Jefferson nickels with Buffalo on the reverse. They only had to find 5 of these. Of the three contestants one stood out, another new guy named Allen. I mentioned The Tortoise and the Hare fable in the title: Boots was the hare, Allen was the tortoise. Quick as a bunny, Boots was moving along, picking up coins at a very rapid pace. Allen just plugged along, slow and methodical like the tortoise. Some of us told him “Allen! We divide the fields in quarters and plant everything evenly! You need to speed up a little!” Allen paid us no heed, he stayed with the path that he was on, and covered every square in scrutinizing every signal. Pinpointer in hand, he either retrieved the coin or moved on. What is interesting is that Boots and Allen each found 4 of the 2005 nickels I had planted, plus they each found a 2005 native nickel, allowing them to reach the next hunt.

For the final, we all moved to the Dime Hunt. This consisted of 1,000 clad dimes and 100 silver Roosevelt Dimes. The new CoinHuna had to find 20 silver dimes before the other guy did. Again, It was apparent from the start that Allen was hunting way too slow to win. But, Allen remained slow and methodical. I would have bet he would have lost. Much to our surprise, Allen has become our new CoinHuna!!

Boy Howdy, go figure.

Eureka Learns About the 10th Mountain Division by Norm Ruggles

Our club received an outstanding presentation on the 10th Mountain Division at our monthly meeting on Sept. 9. Our speaker was Dr. Chris Juergens, Anschutz Curator of Military History at the History Colorado Museum and Center. Dr. Juergens is an engaging speaker and is an authority on multiple subjects of military history.

The 10th Mountain Division was a unique mountain warfare Army unit that trained in Colorado for service during WWII. Training took place at Camp Hale in the mountains near Leadville. The 10th Mountain Division distinguished itself while serving in Italy and Austria toward the end of the war. Many Coloradans are aware of the unit's close connection to our state.

Along with his presentation Dr. Juergens displayed several interesting historical items that were actually used by soldiers in the unit. Accompanying Dr. Juergens at our meeting were Sydney Mauck from History Colorado, and Austrian researcher/writer Florian Traussnig. Mr. Traussnig spoke about Austrians who served in the 10th Mountain Division despite Austria's alliance with Germany during the war.

After the war several veterans from the 10th Mountain Division were instrumental in developing ski slopes for recreational skiing in Colorado and elsewhere. Although its focus has changed since WWII, the 10th Mountain Division exists today and is a light infantry division based at Fort Drum, New York.

Members of Eureka's Historical Artifact Recovery Team (HART) met with Dr. Juergens at History Colorado back in April to discuss and view military artifacts from the era of the Sand Creek Massacre and the Battle of Julesburg. HART has done an enormous amount of detecting work at the Julesburg site. It was at the April meeting that we discovered Dr. Juergens' expertise in the 10th Mountain Division, and the idea of his speaking to our club on this topic germinated, eventually leading to his presentation at our September club meeting.

Breakfast Club

by Chris Davis

The Breakfast Club had a good turnout for our Saturday hunt. It was a nice day to be out. High around 80.

After some vigorous discussion, we decided to hunt the Paco Sanchez Park. The best find was made by Mary S., with a very nice pair of silver/opal earrings. Six rings were recovered by Bob H., Dan P., Kari, Greg L., and Randy S., who got 2. Bob's was a nice silver. Brian H. dug up what I am calling a pendant. It had a red stone and what appears to be silver wiring. Three knives were found by Marianne S., Greg L., and Marcus L. Jeff M. did best in change with $5.03. Bob H. was close behind with $4.83. I trailed a distant 3rd with $3.35.

Pull Tab Art

By Dan Pierson

On my way home from the Kansas City airshow I passed through a small town, Lucas, Kansas. It has a population of less than 400 people but a thriving art community. Main street is about three blocks long but features several art galleries and outdoor art installations. In one of the galleries I saw something that could strike terror into the heart of any metal detector hobbyist. A full size car and motorcycle made completely of pull tabs. After I recovered from the shock of that many pull tabs, the gallery owner was gracious enough to let me photograph the vehicles. With the number of pull tabs we collect at Breakfast Club we could team up with the artist and make a garage for the car.
